

STATE MILITARY FLYERS FORMING THEIR OWN UNIT

New York Veterans With Brilliant Overseas Records Join New Organization.

New York is to have a flying unit all its own. There has been at Hempstead a temporary aviation squadron, but these men were part of the 102d Infantry, and when the unit is reconstituted will be transferred back to the 14th Infantry. Recruiting for the unit, which will be known as the 57th Air Service, has been started and a group of New York men who brought down many enemy aviators during the war have signed.

Among these are Major Kenneth Littauer, who was a member of the Lafayette Escadrille; Capt. G. De Forest Lerner, who brought down eight enemy airplanes; Capt. Curtis Wheeler, who has six citations; Capt. George A. Vaughan Jr., who has a record of thirteen enemy machines, the D. S. C. and British, French and Belgian medals; First Lieut. Howard Burdick, who brought down eight enemy planes, and nine other officers who did valiant service in Europe.

General Order No. 16, sent out from the State Adjutant General's office, authorizes the reorganization of the air service for the State Guard. It orders change of station to Miller Field, New Dorp, Staten Island, and allocates the seaplane hangar in the southeast corner of the 800 acres as the armory for the 57th.

Capt. G. L. Usher, U. S. A., is designated as the Regular Army air instructor for the National Guard. Capt. Usher already is in residence at Miller Field. He has received assurance of warm support from Borough President Cahill of Richmond. The latter has allocated a room in Borough Hall for a recruiting station. Already fifteen applications for the enlisted personnel have been received by Capt. Usher. Adjutant Paul Downing of No. 264 Bard Avenue, West New Brighton, has been appointed to look after the recruiting in Staten Island.

The total strength will be thirty-one officers and 160 men, including a photograph staff of twenty and five intelligence men.

Commenting on the large proportion of officers, Capt. Usher said, "The officers get bumped off more frequently." He added that applications may be made at Miller Field, or the Adjutant's Bard Avenue address, or at National Guard Headquarters in the Municipal Building.

WANTS WATCH BACK, NEVER MIND THE REST

So Kenogop Tells Court—Wife, Suit, Boarder and Timepiece Gone. Peter Kenogop, twenty-five, of No. 615 Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn, complained yesterday to Magistrate McAndrews in Essex Market that when he returned home after peddling for all day he found his wife had disappeared, also a $15 suit of clothes, a gold filled watch and a star boarder, Jacob Kopetnik of No. 53 Rutgers Street.

"The suit is well worn, your Honor," said Kenogop, "and I don't care for it, or for my wife; but that watch is a good one and I would like to get it back."

Magistrate McAndrews issued a summons for Kopetnik.

ABANDONED BABY BOY FOUND IN LOST BUILDING.

Wailing cries coming from the hallway of a lost building at No. 107 North Moore Street, early this morning, attracted the attention of John Lowery, of No. 42 Amsterdam Avenue, who found a six weeks' old male infant on the floor. The baby was poorly clothed and there were no marks of identification. The founding was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

Ex-Senator Cole, 100, Notes How New York Has Changed Since 80's

Overwhelmed, He Says, by Magnificence of "America's Greatest City."

Former U. S. Senator Cornelius Cole is within six months of his hundredth birthday, but he still likes to take in the sights and the sounds of New York, and he can discuss either European affairs or internal politics with a thorough knowledge of the situation. He has six newspapers read to him every morning in his suite in the Hotel Ambassador.

"It is forty years since I last visited New York," he said. "No Grand Central Terminal nor Pennsylvania then. No skyscrapers either. I am overwhelmed by the changes I find in the appearance of America's greatest city."

Former Senator Cole has no wrinkles, in spite of his great age. He wore the speckled waistcoat and white necktie of the post Civil War period, when he was in Congress, taking part in reconstruction. He is proud of being a member of the Union Society of the Civil War and of the Sons of the Revolution.

"I am one of the forty-niners, you know," he said. "I was born in Lodi, N. Y., in 1822 and went to California with the gold rush in 1849 and was elected to the Senate in 1867. In 1868 I voted on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson."

"I have just come from Washington, where I went to the Senate and made a speech. I didn't see a man who was there when I was. But the speeches I heard seemed much the same."

The former Senator, who had been receiving visitors all the afternoon,

MILEAGE BOOK BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Obstruction to Measure for Interchangeable Tickets Withdrawn.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The obstruction which had been placed in the way of the bill for the sale of interchangeable mileage books has been withdrawn and the House passed the measure yesterday. It had already passed the Senate.

The measure now goes back to the Senate for agreement regarding the changes made by the House.

These changes are a provision for the sale of scrip books in addition to mileage; authority given the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine whether the mileage books shall be sold at a rate lower than the regular rates charged on ticket sales; and authority to exempt certain roads from the operation of the law.

BOY ACCUSES WATCHMAN OF BREAKING HIS ARM.

Arthur Christiansen, fifty, a watchman at a building under construction at Sterling Place and Schenectady Avenue, Brooklyn, was held in $1,000 bail for examination July 11 when arraigned to-day before Magistrate Liota in Gates Avenue Court, Brooklyn. William J. Dooley, ten, son of Police Sergeant Edward Dooley of the Fifth Avenue Station, Brooklyn, living at No. 238 Schenectady Avenue, said he was playing near the building when Christiansen attacked him with a stick, breaking his arm.

SIX MEN AND GUN SEIZED WITH AUTO

Bronx Prisoners Charged With Suspicion of Burglary.

The suspicious appearance of six men seated in an automobile at 161st Street and Brook Avenue, Bronx, last night, led Detectives Pitrizzo and Murphy of Morrisania Station to search the car and question the men. The detectives allege they found a loaded revolver in a pocket in the door of the car and two "jimmies" on the floor.

The detectives jumped on the running board, and ordering all but the chauffeur to throw up their hands, commanded the latter to drive to Morrisania Police Station.

The six were charged with suspicion of burglary. They described themselves as Anthony Amato, twenty-three, No. 323 East 115th Street, who said he was a chauffeur employed by Joseph Villano, a baker, No. 305 East 117th Street, also a member of the party; Joseph Caruso, twenty-two, No. 326 East 115th Street, bookbinder; Antonio De Luca, twenty-three, driver, No. 338 East 117th Street; Harry Liferi, twenty, clerk, No. 331 East 115th Street, and Salvatore Siraco, thirty-four, No. 322 East 115th Street.

According to the detectives, Villano admitted he owned the revolver, saying he carried it because he had been the victim of two hold-ups. Villano said he used the "jimmies" to put tires on his car. A charge of violating the Sullivan law was made against him.

FIFTH ARREST MADE IN BRONX HOLD-UP

Preacher's Vision of Missing Loot Fails to Come True.

John Liant, twenty-six, No. 2290 Second Avenue, was arraigned to-day in Morrisania Court, charged with being one of five hold-up men who robbed a Bronx National Bank messenger Tuesday at 128th Street and Willow Avenue. He was arrested last night by Detective Demody of the Bronx Detective Bureau at Third Avenue and 149th Street. Four others are also in custody.

Detectives still are searching for the money taken from the bank messenger, which was believed to have been buried in a yard in the Bronx.

The Rev. S. S. Boyd, colored, No. 125 South Ninth Street, Mount Vernon, described to the police a vision he had of a white angel who told him the missing money was in a tire of the robbery automobile, but a search showed the "message" to the preacher had met interference somewhere between spirit land and Mount Vernon.

CAR CLEANER KILLED STEPPING ON THIRD RAIL

George Aborast, a car cleaner, twenty-one, of No. 236 East 111th Street, at work in the car barns at 130th Street and La Fontaine Avenue, stepped on a third rail this morning and was instantly killed.

NEW BOOK ABOUT FLYERS GIVES 1,000 BIOGRAPHIES.

Publication Written by Editor of "Aviation" Tells Personnel of American Aeronautics.

"Who's Who in American Aeronautics," a 130-page book containing many pages of valuable information and biographies of nearly 1,000 persons interested in Government and commercial aviation, has just been issued by the Gardner-Moffat Company, Inc., No. 225 Fourth Avenue.

The information was compiled by Lester D. Gardner, publisher of "Aviation," the technical magazine of aeronautics. Several hundred of the biographies carry photographs.

There also is a list of the personnel of the Army and Navy Air Services, the Air Mail, Aero Club of America, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Aero Clubs in the United States, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association and the National Aircraft Underwriters' Association.
